Guthrie & Streb with Brookshire and Pisaro as Artists in Residence at the Hammer Museum

April 23, 2009 7pm - performance

April 26, 2009 10:30am - workshop 'improvisation/collaboration'

This new, site-specific work by Madison Brookshire, April Guthrie, Michael Pisaro and Cassia Streb combines layers of audio and video recordings with live musical performance to create a study of light and sound in Los Angeles that explores the complex relationship between reality and recording. This collaboration is built on the ensemble Guthrie & Streb, a Los Angeles-based music ensemble committed to new and experimental works.

This performance is being produced as part of the Hammer Museum's Artist Residency Program. The Hammer Museum's Artist Residency Program was initiated with funding from the Nimoy Foundation and is supported through a significant grant from the James Irvine Foundation.

Performance in orchestra of twelve creative improvisers

The Silver Orchestra premiered three new works composed especially for this performance, Border Issues: Refugees and Immigrants, Pacifica, and Crossing on a Southern Road. The philosophical and spiritual inspiration for creating these works concerns the issues of borders and the growing reality of refugees and immigration in the world. Also included are compositions from the CD Lake Biwa.
